

Team Augmentation

Your Software Development Project is key to your business success. We take that very seriously and identify the expertise you require to meet your IT Project needs. Our Team Augmentation services help in accelerating your development activities, reducing costs and having access to experienced resources without long term commitments.

Team Augmentation

How it Works

- ✓ Exceptional Software Developers are hard to come by, yet essential to the success of your IT projects. More often than not, businesses need to scale their software development team quickly for a defined period of time. In such cases, hiring in-house talent simply does not make business sense. That's where we come in.
- ✓ With Cornet, you can hire from our carefully screened expert resources to bring your projects to life while retaining control over the strategies used to implement and complete designated projects. Available resources include Software Developers, Testers, Business Analysts and more for the ultimate level of support for a full scope of IT projects - at an affordable rate.

Team Augmentation
